UNO and ONO design Olle Anderson

The UNO and ONO lighting units were developed in 2001 in response to demands for both upward and downward lighting from one and the same unit.

As is so often the case with Olle Anderson's products, his unobtrusive design respects the space in which the units are to be placed. This series of products demonstrates that there is no contradiction between the unobtrusive and clear graphic expression. UNO and ONO are available in Luxo's new colour range

“I am happy to return to and further develop both the technology and the design idiom of a unit. Ideas spawn ideas, design spawns design.”

Olle Anderson is an architect and member of the Swedish Association of Architects (MSA SIR); he is also a designer (SID) and has been active as an architect and designer since the 1960s. He has held professorships at three seats of learning and in 2004 was awarded a honorary engineering doctorate at Chalmers in Gothenburg. Olle Anderson has spent many years acting as President and member of the board of the International Federation of Interior Architects/Designers (IFI).
